HONORS FOR G. U. H. S.

BASEBALL TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP—GOOD RECORD BY RALSTON

Prof. Harry Howe reports that when all expenses had been taken out, the sale of tickets for the Oratorical at Glendale Union High yielded $99.14. Double that amount might have been realized had the auditorium been large enough to accommodate all who wanted to attend. Those who were there have vivid recollections of entreating parents and friends of pupils who were bitterly disappointed because they could not be accommodated. The expenses were light and were limited to the $20 prize in thrift stamps and the transportation expenses of the judges.

Last Friday Union High's baseball team played and won at Covina. This was the final game in the Southern California League series and gave Glendale the League Championship, or another banner to place beside the trophy brought home by the boys' basketball team, which also won a championship. The boys attribute these victories to the excellent coaching of Mr. Hayhurst. Today, Tuesday, the team will play the winner in the Bay League, viz., the Huntington Park team. The game will be played at 2 o'clock on the grounds of Manual Arts High. If Glendale wins it will be entered for the semi-finals for the California Championship.

Glendale High is also making a good record in other lines. Saturday the school was represented by Clarence Ralston in the annual declamation contest under the auspices of the Pomona College. There were twenty-one contestants representing all the big schools of Southern California. Ralston was awarded third place, the first going to Covina, the second to Citrus High.

Another event which took place the same day at Pomona was a competitive drill between the military companies in fifteen high schools of Southern California. There were squad and individual contests and the Glendale boys won fifth place in both, outranking Los Angeles High and many of the big schools of the Southland.

HONOR JACK TAR

Saturday evening a party of young people from the High School and from Los Angeles enjoyed a picnic at Eagle Rock. They left here about 5:30 and enjoyed themselves in a variety of ways until dark, when refreshments, the product of a wienie bake with accessories, were served. They then returned to Glendale and to the home of Miss Hattie Beckman at 447 South Belmont street, where they spent the evening. The party included Julius Eichhorn of Los Angeles, guest of honor, who has enlisted in the U. S. Navy. With him was Gordon Wood, also of Los Angeles. Glendale boys and girls were: Hattie Beckman, Margaret Lusby, Selma Eger, Florence Marleau, Eva Beckman, Elizabeth Bullard, Emma Esterly, Helen Esterly, Homer Morgan, Elwood Ingledue, Wilbur Lee, Everett Bartlett and Frits Bowman. Mr. Eichhorn was also a dinner guest in the Esterly home on Sunday.

LUNCHEON AND SHOWER

A luncheon and miscellaneous shower, beautiful in all its appointments, was given for Miss Aileen Freeman, daughter of Mrs. Richardson D. White, by Miss Helen MacMullan at her home, 1560 Sycamore avenue last Saturday at one o'clock. It was a two-course function served at two large tables centered with Cecil Bruner roses. The guest of honor was the recipient of many dainty and useful gifts which were placed in a Hope Chest and became the center of attention when the young ladies adjourned from the tables. The afternoon was spent with music and dancing. Guests were Dorothy Weed and Catherine Lord of the Westlake school, Mrs. Tom Furst, Misses Fay Morse, Frances Peckham, Daphne Burlingham, Leda Siple, Lida Shea, Bettie Gregg, Margaret Gregg, Cecilia Lyons, Winifred Jones, Mrs. Hyatt of Hollywood, Mrs. Lillian Parker, Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. Kalbaugh, Mrs. H. E. MacMullan.

ENTERTAIN SOLDIER

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons of 911 Maple avenue entertained Monday evening with a dinner in honor of Frank Becker, of West Eighth street, a soldier in Field Hospital No. 157, Sanitary Train, at Camp Kearny. He is having a five-day furlough and such attentions no doubt make him very happy. It was quite an informal affair, as befits war times, those present besides Private Becker and the host and hostess being Mr. and Mrs. George Lyons and Miss Lyons.

HEALTH FACTORY

THE WEST

It may be news to some of the people of this community to learn that we have here one of the best arranged and most splendidly equipped suites of offices for the practice of medicine, surgery and osteopathy to be found in the west. Dr. T. C. Young is a young man with a wonderful enthusiasm not only for learning all the new things that others have discovered in connection with his profession but in making discoveries and inventions himself. In groping about for a word to adequately describe the mass of equipment with which he has surrounded himself and the systematic arrangement of it all, the writer can only think of a plant or factory where diseased and ailing bodies are taken in as raw material and health and strength are turned out. A visit to this "factory" is very interesting, especially if the visitor goes in the capacity of a sightseer and not as a sufferer, although it must be a very restful place for the sufferer.

Nine rooms compose the suite, all furnished and equipped for some special purpose and arranged for the greatest convenience with relation to each other. "All open from a central corridor, the advantage of which is evident. The indirect lighting system has been introduced throughout and the softened light has been found to be very restful and effective. Electric wall heaters have been installed in all the rooms. They are clean, attractive and very satisfactory. Another great convenience is a telephone system extending from the business office throughout the suite.

The atmosphere of rest is very noticeable in the large reception room, where harmony has been made the watchword. There are mulberry colored hangings with a border of gold, Jacobean furniture in the same shade with the mulberry tint blended with softer tones in the rug and wall finish. There are a few good pictures on the walls.

Opening from the reception parlor is the consultation room. A beautiful shade of blue is the color scheme here. A soft gray velvet rug with blue border, velvet chairs, curtains in same shade, with pattern outlined in gold, all go to make this room a joy to behold.

Opening from this room and also accessible from the corridor and the osteopathic treating room is a dressing room finished in ivory with dressing table and chair to harmonize. The treating room is furnished in brown leather. The surgery room is in white, large wall cases of instruments occupying one side of the room. Reflectors are used here when special light is needed. An electric sterilizer and other surgical appliances are systematically arranged in this room.

The X-ray room may be likened to Aladdin's cave. The wonders of this place are beyond the powers of the uninitiated to describe. Here may be seen the only X-ray multigram west of Chicago. This system allows four X-ray photographs to be taken on one plate, showing, for instance, the process of digestion. In this room the writer was given absolute proof of what was suspected before, that Miss Cross, Dr. Young's office assistant, has a heart. A dark room where the X-ray photographic plates are developed is convenient.

The rest room where patients are taken following an operation is a large room most daintily furnished. The reed chairs and couch upholstered in delicate shades of cretonne with window hangings and wall finish to harmonize, combine to produce a very restful atmosphere.

The laboratory where all analyses are made is a place of mystery to the visitor. Here all tests are made. If cancer is suspected a bit of tissue is taken and the test made, while the patient is on the table. A lavatory in white completes this well-arranged suite.

Dr. Young uses constantly in his work a device which he invented and patented, to administer an anesthetic. By this device the ether is blended with an equal amount of water by electrolysis so that only half the usual amount of ether is required. An added advantage of the device is that patients are never troubled with nausea after taking an anesthetic in this way.

Dr. Young is assisted by Dr. O. A. Dieterich, physician, surgeon and osteopath, who is also very ambitious to advance in his profession, and Miss Margaret Cross, who is very efficient and tactful in the performance of her duties.

Dr. Young's hobby is apparent throughout his rooms, trophies of the hunt being in evidence.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday.

AMERICA'S FIRST FIELD ARMY FORMED

U. S. FORCES IN FRANCE BY AUGUST MAY NEARLY EQUAL
THE SIZE OF BRITISH ARMY NOW FACING GERMANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 21.—America's first field army of 200,000 men has been formed in France. It is understood that it consists of two army corps of two divisions each with Major General Liggett in command of one corps. Unless General Haig receives reinforcements soon it is likely that by August American troops in France will closely approximate the size of Haig's forces now facing the Germans.

AWAITING HINDENBURG'S ORDER

READY TO STRIKE AT WORD OF COMMAND

(By William Philip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent)

ON THE BRITISH FRONT, May 21.—Gen. Mackensen is reported to be on the West Front ready to strike the moment Hindenburg finds an opening. I calculate there are a hundred divisions of shock troops awaiting Hindenburg's order. Forty of these were not used in the earlier fighting and the remainder have been rested and recruited to their full strength. It is believed that this is to be the enemy's final or semi-final blow, as the prisoners returned from Russia and the class of 1919 will probably be barely enough to keep the active divisions near their full strength. Indications are that the main thrust is to be against the British or the British and French, hammering the British with a major force and simultaneously spreading anti-English propaganda to create friction among the Allies.

AVIATOR FIGHTS WITH LEG BROKEN

FALLS INTO NO MAN'S LAND WHEN MACHINE IS DISABLED AND MAKES HIS WAY BACK TO BRITISH LINES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

ON THE BRITISH FRONT, May 21.—An American aviation captain from near Philadelphia fought the Germans over the line east of Ypres with his leg broken by a bullet until his engine was disabled. Then he dropped into No Man's Land, unstrapped himself and climbed into a shell hole just as the German battery getting his range smashed his machine. He dragged himself from crater to crater until he reached the British lines.

VICTORY FOR LOS ANGELES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Announcement that Senator Johnson's bill permitting Los Angeles to have right of way through the Forest Reserves in Mono, Inyo, Kern and Los Angeles counties for its water and power lines had been carried today in the Senate was received today at noon.

ON TRIAL FOR CIRCULATING SEDITION LITERATURE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—The trial of J. J. Eagleton, indicted on the charge of circulating "The Finished Mystery," alleged seditious book, began today before Federal Judge Bledsoe. The court room was crowded, many of the spectators being members of the International Bible Students' association.

SAN FRANCISCO AEROPLANE FACTORY DESTROYED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The Fowler aeroplane plant and an adjoining cabinet factory making aeroplane parts were destroyed by fire here this morning, which apparently started simultaneously in several parts of the building. A new shipment of linen for aeroplane wings and two completed planes were destroyed. The loss is estimated at a million dollars.

FIGHTING SPEEDING UP ON ALL FRONTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, May 21.—General Haig reports English local operations northwest of Merville, capturing machine guns and prisoners. Hostile raids there failed. Hostile artillery is growing heavier around Hebuterne, north of Lens; between the Scarpe and Hill 70 and north of Nieupe forest. There is heavy gas shelling north of Bethune. Fighting is speeding up on all fronts. The allies have executed successful coups on the Picardy, Flanders, Southern France, Macedonian and Italian fronts. The French won all objectives on the two-mile front northeast of Loire.

TANKER, WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER, LOST

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The navy department announces that the American tanker, the William Rockefeller, has been lost at sea. Details have not been announced and the casualty list has not arrived.

INSPIRES PATRIOTISM

RED CROSS AND BRITISH AMBULANCE BENEFIT IS AN ARTISTIC SUCCESS

A program excellent in variety and quality entertained the patrons of the patriotic concert for the benefit of the British Ambulance Society and the Red Cross put on Monday evening at the High School under direction of Miss Inn Whitaker.

The stage setting was very pretty. Heavy green hangings draped the walls, making a fine background for the large Union Jack which centered the wall. At one side was a large Red Cross pillow of red and white carnations and in the center to the rear, the beautiful floral battleship made by Colbert Eyrard, which won first prize at the Carnival, also the float entry of Maurine Burke decorated with a floral flag.

The major part of the program was furnished by the Pacific Mutual Men's Glee Club conducted by Horatio Cogswell. Their deep, strong, well-trained voices were heard with fine effect, especially in the more serious, stirring numbers, such as "America Triumphant," "Comrades" and "Invictus." But it was their war songs which brought the audience to their feet and won stormy applause.

The two Listz numbers by Miss Melicent Virden of this city, "Forest Murmurs" and "Dance of the Gnomes," evoked a large amount of persistent applause from music lovers who hoped to secure an encore. They were beautifully interpreted.

Madame Catherine Shank pleased, as usual, her beautiful voice arousing much enthusiasm in "Evening Cloud," "One Golden Day" and three melodic numbers by Coleridge Taylor.

When little Marie Louise Hand, the whistler, made her appearance on the program in "Giannina mia," from "Firefly," the audience waked up and made such a tumult of applause that she graciously responded with the lovely "Mocking Bird," which pleased even more.

Enthusiasm culminated in the Scotch sketch which seemed to strike the audience just right. The bagpipes, played by Tom Hamilton, the Highland costumes, little Devina Woods' Highland fling, Isabel Martin's effective singing of "My Ain Folk," "My Laddie," and "Annie Laurie," and the trio dance to "The Campbells Are Coming," were altogether delightful.

Two tableau scenes arranged by J. H. Mellish also made an agreeable variety, the first a Red Cross scene featuring three nurses ministering to wounded soldiers, as a background for the speech of appeal made by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, the second and closing tableau in which Mrs. Gordon Norman splendidly filled the role of Britannia and William C. Wattles of Uncle Sam, with a soldier background made up of representatives of the Home Guard of Casa Verdugo, who had also taken part in the previous tableau. The audience went home inspired by a fine sense of patriotism which should bear fruit in liberal subscriptions to the Red Cross.

"What is the American Red Cross?" she began, and then answered the question, saying: "The most efficient organization for the relief of suffering humanity the world has ever known. At its head stands our great Christian humanitarian, President Woodrow Wilson. In the recent address with which he opened the great Red Cross Drive he said: 'There are two duties with which we are face to face. One is to win the war (applause), the second, which goes hand in hand with the first, is to win it greatly and worthily.'

"What has the Red Cross accomplished? It would take all night to enumerate half of the deeds accomplished by this great organization. Among other things, it has reduced mortality among hundreds of our wounded soldiers. In France the American Red Cross is caring for 50,000 children and refugees, 60,000 have been saved from starvation in Poland, 70,000 victims of tuberculosis in France have been cared for. Napoleon said: 'Men win battles, but money wins wars.' We know we must give our money if the work of the Red Cross is to be carried on. We know when there is war that there are wounds to be bound up and starving children to be fed. Thousands of American women are at work for the Red Cross and money must be provided with which to purchase the supplies needed to keep that army at home busy in order to save those across the water. President Wilson has said, 'Let us show ourselves worthy of the great confidence our allies have placed in us at this time.'

TO FIGHT GERMAN ART IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Causing considerable excitement among California school teachers, Pedro J. Lemos of Stanford University is on the warpath against German art kultur. Lemos, who was formerly director of the San Francisco Art Institute and California School of Fine Arts for several years, states that German propaganda has been busily engaged in creating the impression among art teachers in America that the art and design of Germany is far superior to that of other nations. This is part of a carefully concealed plan to create a demand for German-designed goods, and in line with Germany's plan to control the world trade. Lemos states that over half of the art teachers in the schools of California have secured much of their training from German sources, and that students are encouraged to imitate German art methods.

Lorenzo P. Latimer, one of California's leading artists, is co-operating with Lemos in forming an organization in the West to work with the Artists' Association recently organized in Chicago to combat all art instruction coming from Berlin, Munich and Vienna.

As a first step a competition is to be launched among all California High Schools for designs adaptable to American industries. All German motifs or designs are to be excluded. It is a known fact that German kultur gives liberty to the use of subjects by German artists that would bar such designs from the United States mails.

ENTHUSIASTIC CONVENTION

Last Friday afternoon a group of interested White Ribboners gathered at the home of Mrs. Louis Sipple, 239 East Fifth street, to hear the report by the president, Mrs. Smart, of the state W. C. T. U. convention at Bakersfield.

The convention was well attended and enthusiastic and patriotic throughout the four days' session. "Bake the barley into bread and bar it from the bar" was the slogan given out by the presiding officer, Mrs. Irvine, the first morning, and the challenge was often repeated on special occasions.

Miss Anna Gordon, president of the national organization, was in attendance three days and added much to the interest by informal talks, giving facts of the progress of our temperance warfare, and a fine address on "Ratification of the Federal Amendment."

In this she was attended by eleven young ladies bearing pennants of the states that have ratified.

The war service report was of great interest, showing a valuation of over $20,000 and the additional presentations to Miss Gordon for the government made a very enthusiastic occasion. Miniature ambulances, trench kitchens, French orphans, stereomographs, with checks for hundreds of dollars, for comfort bags and hospital supplies, amounting to $6800 in one half hour, made a gift of $30,000 to the government by the W. C. T. U. Miss Gordon graciously received it all in fitting remarks, saying that Southern California women had done marvelously in their work and gifts, and she would carry the tidings to other states.

Hundreds of French orphans have been adopted and thousands of dollars in Liberty Loan Bonds purchased by the W. C. T. U. Five hundred dollars in the Third Bond loan was secured by the Glendale Union which failed to be reported. The Red Cross of Bakersfield sent representatives with kindly greetings.

When their president said that "every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union must, in heart at least, be a disciple of the principles of the Red Cross," immediately Mrs. Irvine asked for a showing of hands of those who belonged to the Red Cross, and nearly every hand in that large assembly went up. The war service report, which was quite incomplete, not half the Union reporting on that item, showed that 30,000 hours, or 3700 eight-hour days, have been given by W. C. T. U. women to the Red Cross work aside from their own work, thus showing their loyalty to the government and President Wilson's requests.

The Board of Trade of Bakersfield very generously gave an auto ride to all the convention, around the city, through the Edison orange groves and out to the oil fields, where the 2500 wells yield 1,000,000 gallons of oil a month.

An informal reception in one of the palatial millionaire homes was tendered Miss Gordon and the delegates on Thursday evening, which was a very enjoyable occasion. Bakersfield City Council also donated $200.00 to the local committee toward convention expenses. They had just passed a "dry" ordinance closing all saloons on Sundays, which took effect May 12th.

Telegrams were sent to President Wilson urging immediate war prohibition, and one sent to Governor Stephens commanding his stand for ratification, "but deplored his attitude toward compensating the wine grape growers, whose products have made losses in homes beyond estimation." Special effort for the coming year will be work for ratification of Federal Amendment, also by a part of the forces for a state bone-dry amendment, and strongly against

NEW THOUGHT

Red Cross Sunday was observed at Masonic Temple. Dr. Frank L. Riley, the speaker, is a veteran in Red Cross work, having received his certificate twenty-nine years ago in New York. He gave a "From the Heart" talk, the work being very dear to him. An excerpt follows:

There is no work in which New Thought students can participate more wholeheartedly than this wonderful work of the Red Cross. New Thought breathes of the very spirit of this work in our war for humanity. Red Cross, like New Thought, is absolutely universal. It has no dogma; its mission is to help all: the Jew or Gentile; Catholic or Protestant, black or white. It stands for practical Christianity. One verse in the Bible especially appeals to the New Thought idea of religion, which can well be applied to Red Cross.

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father, is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world." James 1:27.

At present we just have one foot in this great struggle for liberty; soon we will be called upon not only to give more and more financial aid, but above all to carry the true message of love to the little children and mothers at home in our dear America. We need all the truth that we can command to sustain us in this great call. Love not only saves, but it also heals, protects, soothes and blesses the broken hearted; I know whereof I speak. No, there need be no flare of trumpets in this quiet work of sympathy, but a heart to heart contact is necessary. Our Truth dovetails and fits in with Red Cross work, because it is the very essence of Christianity, summed in one word Divine—Love, which is the very opposite of selfishness. Love is life and is touched by mercy for all men. I hope you all have read President Wilson's message. There are talking points in that speech, and I want to emphasize, if I can, "Our duty in winning this war, and winning it greatly and worthily." Let us, as New Thought people and Red Cross workers support this great principle wholeheartedly, with honorable common sense. One word will cover it—sacrifice. Get clear on this point. Let us see what Jesus said: "He that loses his life shall find it." "What shall it profit, a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul." "Go sell all that thou hast," etc. Give and sacrifice worthily and win worthily. This is the essence of the teaching of Jesus Christ. By sacrifice for the good of all we get the very soul out of life.

This is Armageddon. We must face it. It is a bad job, for Germany has not even respect for the Red Cross.

Stand by the Red Cross so that we may look back upon a great success in having won this war worthily for humanity.

Dr. Riley will speak next Sunday on "How to Study the Bible."

MR. YAGER IN BUSINESS IN GLENDALE

T. E. Yager is the new proprietor of the Dolly Varden at 411 South Brand boulevard and succeeded Mrs. Otis in the business Monday morning. Mr. Yager is a practical caterer and confectionery man and will make a specialty of serving fine ice cream. Meals and lunches will be served. His place of business will be open to the public from 7 a. m. to 11:30 p. m. Mr. Yager and family will occupy rooms above the store.

A SCHOOL DEMONSTRATION

Next Friday evening the Intermediate School will introduce a novelty for the benefit of parents and all friends of pupils in the school. In two periods the regular class work of the school in all departments will be demonstrated. The first period will be given to physical culture work on the campus. The next period will take place in the assembly room with classes on the platform. This is a variation of the "Exhibit" at the end of school and Superintendent Richardson D. White believes it will be more enlightening to those who wish to know just what our schools are doing.

CERTIFICATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The Los Angeles War Fund Committee is issuing a "Certificate of Subscription" to all persons who make pledges to the Red Cross War Fund. These certificates are to be taken to the voting precinct of the subscriber for record. It is a scheme for large cities only.

An arrangement has been made whereby citizens of Glendale, forced by circumstances to subscribe in Los Angeles, may obtain the registry of their subscriptions at Red Cross headquarters in Glendale. Such subscriptions will be placed on the individual card records and an effort will be made to have them applied to the Glendale quota. Therefore, if you subscribed in Los Angeles, bring in your certificate for registration.

RED CROSS WAR FUND COMMITTEE.

PUT YOUR LIBERTY BOND TO WORK

It has been announced from the Red Cross headquarters that Liberty Bonds will be taken at full value as subscriptions to the Red Cross.

This is an ideal way to make your Liberty Bond do double duty. Your government has received the financial aid. Now, by subscribing your bond to the Red Cross you are further helping the boys in the trenches to receive the many comforts and necessities afforded by the Red Cross organization.

CHILD CONSERVATION

The County Council of Defense is taking up the work of conserving the children of America, which is becoming such a recognized feature of war activities. In this connection, Doctor Jessie Russell, of this city, Chairman of the Women's Committee, has announced the following as a central committee for this work in Los Angeles county:

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Chairman. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Glendale. Mrs. Lloyd W. Harmon. Mrs. Harvey Trowbridge. Dr. J. L. Pomeroy.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson. Mrs. Harry Graves. Mrs. Lowell C. Frost. Dr. Louise Richter.

Following the plan of Miss Julia Lathrop, the Washington head of this branch of service, a public health nursing organization intended to protect the rural districts, will be organized. Committees of patriotic women to represent the unincorporated towns and the cities will soon be named. Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, County Health Officer, has promised the full co-operation of the public health nurses of the county and lists of mothers requiring aid are being compiled. The new division of "District Home Demonstrator," which has been organized in connection with the Farm Bureau Movement, will also co-operate.

Personals

This evening, Tuesday, Dr. and Mrs. Colin Cable will be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Timmer of Los Angeles.

Perry Weidener, in charge of the War Savings Campaign of Southern California, was a speaker at Glendale Union High School this (Tuesday) morning at 11:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Edward Lynch and a number of other ladies of Glendale will be delegates to the P. E. O. Convention which begins today (Tuesday) at Orange and will last for three days.

An additional supply of pledge cards and receipts for the Red Cross Drive has been secured and can be obtained by workers who need them at Red Cross headquarters on Brand boulevard.

J. W. Christian, the new president of the Pacific Union Conference, has arrived and will be a guest at the Glendale Sanitarium until he is able to establish himself in permanent headquarters.

Mrs. Henry Gamer of Butte, Mont., and her son Charles were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Colin Cable. They leave for Montana on Tuesday after spending about six weeks in Southern California.

Mrs. Ida M. Terry of North Central avenue leaves Wednesday for Hermosa Beach, where she has taken a bungalow for the summer months. She will be joined at intervals by her children and their families.

Edward S. Jerome will speak at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dennerlein, 1304 North Central avenue, North Glendale, Thursday, 8 p. m., the 23rd, on David Lloyd George and the part he has in this world war for liberty. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Gertrude Follansbee of 1433 Myrtle street is to provide the program at the Wednesday Morning Club in Los Angeles this week. She will read J. M. Barrie's play, "The Will," and two or three lighter selections.

Corporal George Grist, who had to go to the hospital at Burbank for a remedial operation a short time ago, is now well enough to sit up and has been brought to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grist, at 31 S. Brand boulevard, where he will be very glad to see his friends.

The Red Cross luncheon at the Masonic Temple will be served tomorrow, Wednesday, by the ladies of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The luncheon comes from the cooking laboratory of the Glendale Sanitarium and the waiters will be the nurses in costume from the Sanitarium.

Mrs. Charles Grist of 131 S. Brand boulevard is sounding a warning in regard to burglars. She states that a few nights ago her husband was awakened by the fall of a bottle from the sill of an open window. He assumed it had been overturned by the wind and closed the window, but in the morning the imprint of footsteps was found beneath the window and a wire fence in the rear of the premises was found cut and turned back. She thinks it will be well for householders to take precautions and keep their ears primed for intruders.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase of 1500 Riverdale drive motored to Matilija Hot Springs for a week-end trip of three days. The springs are located about twenty miles beyond Ventura on Matilija Creek, and the scenery there they say is very beautiful. Beans in the vicinity of Ventura are up and everything looks as fine as can be. They went to Ojai and called on Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett, whom they found well and flourishing. Mr. Bennett is doing very well in his business. They were somewhat disappointed in the fishing, but otherwise had a delightful trip.

GATEWAY ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Gateway Association will hold a meeting at the Branch City Hall on Brand boulevard and Tropicana avenue Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to discuss general civic matters and to consider the coming bond election for acquiring the electric lighting system now installed throughout the Tropicana district. It is desired that as many of the people interested in civic affairs as is possible shall attend this meeting and express their views with reference to municipal ownership of all the public utilities as well as making suggestions for any betterment of the city's welfare in the Gateway district.

HONEYMOON AT MONTEREY

Mr. and Mrs. Shives Mitchell left this morning on the eight o'clock coast line for Monterey to spend their honeymoon, eluding their friends, who wished to give them a proper send-off, for the second time. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were scheduled to leave for Monterey just after their marriage last Thursday evening.

Although they were closely watched, they escaped by way of the kitchen and were taken instead to the home of Mrs. Gertrude Richardson Rudling on San Francisquito ranch, where they remained until Sunday, when they were joined by the Logan, Mitchell and Richardson families. They returned to the Richardson home Sunday evening and ostensibly were planning to leave for Monterey Wednesday. The bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Richardson, Mrs. Gladys Romie, Miss Kathaleen Duncan and Miss Lorraine Mitchell helped the bridal pair to outfit the plotters and make their getaway this morning.

FOOTHILL CLUB

Mrs. C. H. Crawford was hostess to the members of the Foothill club Friday afternoon, the beautiful home being beautifully decorated for the occasion, Madame Cochet roses being used abundantly in the living room and fragrant sweet peas in the dining room where the two-course luncheon was served. The club according to its usual custom spent the afternoon in Red Cross work. Special guests of the afternoon were Miss May Bradick of Hollywood, who delighted the guests with several vocal selections, and Mrs. Raymond Wells. These ladies are house guests of Mrs. Crawford.

Everette K. Barnes had been secured to make an address and spoke on the Red Cross War Fund drive. He spoke of the patriotic activity of that section and complimented the Central avenue school, which has purchased more thrift stamps in proportion to its membership than any other school. He urged that we be not too optimistic of success in the war as to lose sight of the fact that we must all have a part if the war is to be won. He suggested the publication of an honor roll of those who are doing their patriotic duty. He recommended the sacrifices the children are making and urged that we use judgment in our saving.

MR. PRESIDENT, WON'T YOU TELL US WHY?

Mr. President, we know that you today are bearing on your shoulders the mightiest load mortal man has borne since Abraham Lincoln went to his bloody grave. We know that you are thinking and planning constantly for the welfare of the world. We know that you lean constantly on the mighty arm of the Lord and draw strength from His presence. We know that many plans must be laid and many things done, that the world at large can not be suffered to know. We trust you, Mr. President, because we must.

And when you bid us give, we give, some of us to the last dollar. When you bid us work, we work to the limit of our strength. When you bid us save, we save till it hurts, because we know that somewhere, alas, manywheres, there are millions to be fed on what we save.

When you told us last winter to save coal, we saved it. When you said for schools to close, for mighty factories to close, for churches to close and for stores to close, we closed them, even though we knew that not a saloon was made to close and not a brewery. We loyally obeyed, but we wondered and we grieved, Mr. President. When you told us to cut down on the use of wheat and sugar and forbade us to hoard anything that could be used for food, again we obeyed, though we saw the pro-German breweries hoarding by millions of bushels the precious barley and by thousands of tons the needed sugar; and the hell's broth they brewed made men worse, not better. Again we obeyed to the letter, Mr. President, though we grieved and wondered.

There must be some reason, Mr. President, for this strange inconsistency, some reason of state why none but these outlaws of civilization are immune from the obligation to save and not to hoard. Your lofty character, your stainless honor, your Christian aspirations all forbid the thought that this immunity to a foe that claims more tortured victims every year than the butchery of this entire war, is by your choice.

Then in the name of the heroic mothers whose spotless boys so freely given at country's call are tempted to debauchery and shame by this unchecked demon, in the name of the American housewives who so cheerfully and devotedly lay their all upon the altar of saving, in the name of a mighty people who in this hour of travail and woe lift their eyes to the blood-stained cross of Christ, we ask, if this sin-stained monster ALONE is to be immune from the law of saving and sacrifice while the rest of us loyally submit, MR. PRESIDENT, WON'T YOU TELL US WHY?

We are not going to give back an inch, Mr. President. We are going to win this war if it takes our last dollar, our last crust of bread, as, alas, it will take thousands of our noble boys. We are going to save more earnestly. We are going to work more actively. We are going to give more freely. And thus resolving, we feel that we are partners with you in this mighty task and that the reasons which sway you in this apparent yielding to the arrogant powers of evil, should be frankly revealed to us. MR. PRESIDENT, WON'T YOU TELL US WHY?

O. L. KILBORN.

LIBERTY ROLL PROPOSED

The time has come when every man, woman and child in this great American commonwealth must prove allegiance to the Stars and Stripes. The United States is called upon to perform the noblest duty ever required of man. It is needless to state just what that duty consists of. All of us know and knowing we are the more at fault in not performing this duty to the letter, cost what it may. There are altogether too many of us who say to ourselves, "What I can do won't help any as the others are helping so much that my efforts won't be missed; any way I am too busy," etc.

All the battles of this war are not to be fought overseas. Each one individually has a battle to fight. One of the Kaiser's most potent allies is hard at work within our very bodies. Carelessness, selfishness, thoughtlessness, indifference, a false sense of security inspired by direct German propaganda and an almost overpowering desire to let others assume the burden. These are the forces that are arrayed against our individual selves. In any contention victory comes to but one of the contenders; the other is conquered. We have the moral assistance of others, but the final outcome in this case rests entirely with us individually.

All of us added together make up our nation and consequently our entire force and resource is not available unless we act as a unit in one direction. Can it be possible that there is even one among us who calls himself or herself an American and yet feels or thinks that they are not a part of what goes to make us a nation? There must be no weak links in our chain if it is to stand the strain. Each of us should be able to know and have confidence in his neighbor even as he is known and confided in. Each of us must be an open book. The citizen who subscribes thousands to the Liberty Loans should hold his head no higher than he who subscribes hundreds. The person who strains himself financially when he buys a fifty-dollar bond stamp himself as good an American as he whose purchase is represented by three figures.

The honest effort of the person buying thrift stamps at twenty-five cents apiece is on a par with that of him who buys war savings certificates at five dollars each. The widow who cheerfully gives her hard-earned dollar to the Red Cross or the Y. M. C. A. has done her bit as fully as others who, more fortunate, can offer pieces of gold. Even the honest desire of those who through misfortune are kept from offering anything of a substantial nature places them in the ranks of loyalty.

To those who CAN and WILL NOT or DO NOT we are forced to apply a term altogether too mild. In the early days of our country these people were called traitors. The modern term "slacker" does not sound quite so harsh, but we are still pondering over the difference between the two. Must history record the existence of such as these to be read with shame by future generations? The substantial people are demanding that this class be exposed and inasmuch as the people are the nation and the fate of the nation is at stake, the demand is just and must be recognized in order that the people may take steps to rid themselves of this menace from within.

And when you bid us give, we give, some of us to the last dollar. When you bid us work, we work to the limit of our strength. When you bid us save, we save till it hurts, because we know that somewhere, alas, manywheres, there are millions to be fed on what we save.

We propose a Liberty Roll in which the name of every person who has shown patriotic activity shall appear in order that we may feel the necessary confidence in one another and that there may be a unity of effort. We can not afford to neglect our plain duty to our country and to one another for fear of treading on someone's feelings. Better that this had been done long ago. If we are to win we must unite. Why not now?

YOUR RED CROSS FIGHTING DOLLARS

Fights for your soldiers—yours and your allies—in trench, canteen and hospital.

Fights in every war stricken country to uphold a wrecked and suffering humanity in its struggle for a free existence.

One hundred million dollars to "carry on."

No power of taxation, no interest rate to urge those dollars.

Each one a volunteer, sent willingly and by the heart alone.

The noblest fund of all the billions of this war's vast budgets—because the freest given.

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War-torn allied country.

It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth-running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and thus helping to win the war.

President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it.

Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.
